We're kissing the lips of strangers
We're hugging whoever next we meet
Oh life I love you to my bones
When everything's short for listeners
Take 'em home and cook them dinners
And sing
Oh life I love you to my bones
Dominoes and medicine
A two you are and new you win
Take a seat and let it grow
The world will love you
Elephants of memory
An alphabet of chemistry
All of these things have made me
Roscoe and Beenie, laughter and no TV
I've got punch lines and feisty cars
And tons and tons of love
I've got firesides and dutch gold
There's no such thing as too old
And my fortune is my home
My home and all I know!

We had the
Whole group doing limbo
Everybody was tearing up the floor
Oh life I love you to my bones
Man, everything is just so simple
When you're laughing until your face is soar
Oh life I love you to my bones
Dominoes and medicine
A two you are a new you win
Take a seat and let it grow
The wild will love you
An alphabet of chemistry
All of these things have made me
Roscoe and Beenie, laughter and no TV
I've got punch lines and feisty cars
And tons and tons of love
I've got firesides and dutch gold
There's no such thing as too old
And my fortune is my home
My home and all I know!
