

Walter Trout

"I Shall Be Released"

Visit "I Shall Be Released" on MotoLyrics.com

They say ev'rything can be replaced
They say ev'ry distance is not near
Yes I remember ev'ry face
Of ev'ry man who put me here
Than I see my light come shining
From the west down to the east
Any day now, anyway now
I shall be released

And they say ev'ry man must needs protection
I hear them say ev'ry man must fall
Yet I swear I can see my reflection
Somewhere so high above this wall
I can see my light come shining
From the west down to the east
Any day now, anyway now
I know that I shall be released

Standing next to me in this lonely crowd
A man who swears he's not to blame
You know what
All day all day long I hear him shout so loud
Crying out that he was framed
All day long he keeps cryin Lord I hear him cry
Keep crying Lord, Lord I can hear him cry

I see my light I can see it shine
From the west down the east
Any day now, anyway now
I shall be released

Visit Walter Trout page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.