This house used to feel so warm..
The heater works but I'm chilled to the bone

Oh, this room never felt so big.

There's not enough conversation to fill the empty spaces.

How can you love someone and not know them at all?

Chorus:
It's a thin disguise, living our lives behind a thin
disguise.
One of these days if I got the time,

I'll show you what I'm like on the inside.

I talked, you used to hear me so well.

Now all the best conversations are with myself.
Oh I wish I knew what's pulling you away,

And the space that's grown between us,

How can you love someone and not know them at all?

Gets a little bigger everyday.

Chorus:
It's a thin disguise, living our lives behind a thin
disguise.

One of these days if I got the time,
I'll show you what I'm like on the inside.
