Inspiring, shining, rising
And when you're in my way I'm not dividing me from you cause we're working together
Perfect in it's splendor like the currents of the weather
The splinter in my center hindering all of my pleasure Is me manifested as you in this endeavor Once responsibility is taken I can render Experience to be however I want to remember

Time and time again we fall in to the depths of who we are
But you can't keep running away from what you're trying to find

Put yourself through the scariest of scenarios Enter experiences you normally wouldn't dare to go It's all for the character and the arrogant afterglow Of knowing it's appearance according to your patterns of growth
And what your parents handed down to you to handle Make sure you carry torches when they're puttin out your candles Prediction can be unkind but unwind them still Don't erase the part of you that's responsible for your will

are
But you can't keep running away from what you're
trying to find

are
But you can't keep running away from what you're
trying to find
Well I've seen you and those things you do And the way you hide that shadow can't be good for you
Your dark defines your light

There's some utterly damaged particles to deal with

And if I stutter I'm sorry but it's hard to feel swift When stuck in my stomach is a cannon ball anchor to life
I've been pushing it down pretending it doesn't exist Well this is what happens when you're pissed about being pissed
You dig yourself so deep you resist just to resist
And there's no way to get back experiences that you missed
So start right now today and risk furiousness for bliss

Time and time again we fall into the depths of who we
But you can't keep running away from what you're
trying to find

are
But you can't keep running away from what you're
trying to find

are(2x)

But you can't keep running away from what you're trying to find(2x)
