When I looked up the sky I could see your face on high
I wondered where, I wondered why
I don't know why you wanted me back that day
And then you said it's ok if you keep on asking yourself
Which way to go, which road to take
Please hurry up 'cause time's ticking away

And I was running away,
And I was running away
When I looked back to the sky
I could see your face

Even though I know it's better
To do what you say
I keep tryin' to go on my way
I know I'd be better off in your light
And I know it's better
To live in the light than to die
To die in a fight that's not worthwhile
I know that you're the only way

And I was running away,
I was running away
When I looked back to the sky
I could see your face 2x

And every time I see you bleeding
I know that your love's still here
'Cause you died for me

You are here, you are awesome god
And I lift up my hands
Right up to you 5x
