For the sake of walking home,
Another night they fear,
They fear the sound of sirens.
For a company so fueled so filled with fight, it's clear,
Destructions sure to find them.
(And come 1 AM)
It's damage control again,
Drunken anthems as they all cry,
Don't fuck with us tonight!
With the sirens ablaze and no chance
For escape they know that this is child's play.

With those sirens still ablaze killing chances of escape,
It's safe to say,
You won't sleep much tonight!

Don't fuck with the Chuck!
Don't fuck with the Chuck!
Don't fuck with the Chuck!
Don't fuck with the Chuck!

And come 1 AM,
It's damage control again,
Drunken anthems as they all cry,
Don't fuck with us tonight!
With the sirens ablaze and no chance
For escape they know that this is child's play.

Now the bleak suburban streets turn into casualties,
They want a riot so they make one.
And now with a rage to rival,
Charles Lee Ray you better prey you make it home,
You won't sleep much tonight!
