There's something in your eyes, That tells me you were,
Right again this time.
But there's nothing I can do, To take back all the,
Pain that I caused you.

You say I was wrong, You said that I had ruined all and everything.
And I know that I was wrong back then, I didn't know to
fix things,
Put them back the way they were, Back the way they were.

If I could just replace, The lines from all those,
Tears left on your face.
With shining memories, And smiles from all the,
Great things that we did.

(Then this would be so easy for me)
You say I was wrong, You said that I had ruined all and everything.
And I know that I was wrong back then, I didn't know to
fix things,
Put them back the way they were, Back the way they were.

I know!
That I will miss my mark,
And end up right back at the start with nothing more than where do I begin.
As she!
Waits patiently for me,
To make things right with her tonight then she'll be waiting for eternity.

And when all is said and done.

You say I was wrong, You said that I had ruined all and
everything.
And I know that I was wrong back then, I didn't know to
fix things,
Put them back the way they were, Back the way they were.
