Get your hands up make some noise,
Let those fuckers heard your voice,
A thousand lungs,
One thousand chances to say something.
Loud and clear just one more time,
We're going well into the night,
If we're still alive to tell the tale
Of what went down tonight.

We made our way through disbelief!
The clones, cliches the brazen thieves.
Only to find!
We should have been here months ago.
Sit down next to a smoking gun!
Realise we're right back at square one,
And now we're here only drinking takes the pain away.

Come on in and drink yourself into oblivion,
We made our way through disbelief.
Before the night is through you'll find us in oblivion,
We made our way through disbelief.

Two years of getting nowhere fast,
Hoping this grip on us won't last,
And now we're here the temperatures at boiling point
again.
Is this a flaw in our design,
A missing circuit? Faulty Wires?
How do we get off this assembly line?

Come on in and drink yourself into oblivion,
We made our way through disbelief.
Before the night is through you'll find us in oblivion,
We made our way through disbelief.

Don't stop the rock until the worlds collapse!
Don't stop the rock until the worlds collapse!
Don't stop the rock until the worlds collapse!
Don't! Stop!

We made our way through disbelief!
The clones, cliches the brazen thieves.

Only to find!
We should have been here months ago.

Come on in and drink yourself into oblivion,
We made our way through disbelief.
Before the night is through you'll find us in oblivion,
We made our way through disbelief.
