The final card is drawn against me
I guess I'm used to being fooled again
I played the game and left behind me

The things I needed the most
I kind of lost my mind I suppose
I tried to be cool but dying inside
I finally found my way tonight

Oh tell me baby what you're thinking
Oh and I tell you baby what I'm thinking
Right here right now
Let's just hold this moment for a while
And remember just a little what it is to be alive

The writing's on the wall here before me
But the words ain't clearer in my mind
Maybe time will give an answer

This feeling will always remain
I guess I could go but it won't be the same
I've gotta be strong to keep us alive
Without any hope we'll never survive

Hold on and don't let go now
The curtain's up and we'll start the show now
You're all that I will ever need
Baby don't go

Let's just hold this moment for a while
And remember just a little what it is to be alive
