I'm not looking for the answers
I'm not trying to believe
In this social system that we were born and forced into How is it that we haven't yet come to terms with the truth
That what I do does not affect you
And what you do does not affect me
Unless you pursue conflict actively

So now we can't be friends cause you decided It's your place to judge me
I don't remember asking your opinion

We take the road less traveled by
Take it back now, take it back
Give it our all, it's do or die
Nobody else can tell us how to live our lives
We're not running anymore, we're not running anymore

And so you can't intimidate me
Your blade has simply lost its point
Your argument is flawed
And now you have been exposed
You can try all that you want
But this is the path you chose

We take the road less traveled by
Take it back now, take it back
Give it our all, it's do or die
Nobody else can tell us how to live our lives
We're not running anymore
We're not running anymore

We're just being who we are/we take the road less traveled by/we're not running anymore
This is my putting my foot down
Cause this is who we are
We won't change for anyone
We're not reaching for the stars
