This clock keeps right on ticking
And every second I wish I was back home
Far away from you

Thought maybe I could trust someone
But your deception left me half alive
You're a self-righteous fuck and you know it's true

Never thought it would come to this, woah
Never thought it would come to this, woah
It makes me think that

I've got problems and you've got problems
But all this conflict won't fucking solve them
And I'm not giving up on you like you gave up on me

You're drunk and you ignore me again
This is the last time, this is the last time
I let you let me down again

And congratulations
You've pushed me beyond the point of no return
You're no role model and you're no friend

Never thought it would come to this, woah
Never thought it would come to this, woah
It makes me think that

I've got problems and you've got problems
But all this conflict won't fucking solve them
And I'm not giving up on you like you gave up on me

Remember when we drove for 16 fucking hours
For you to make me feel like complete and utter shit?
Remember when you said that you didn't fucking care?
Well I thought real hard about it
And I think my only wish
Is for just one fucking day
You to stand here in my shoes
And see how it feels
How it feels to be me

I've got problems and you've got problems
But all this conflict won't fucking solve them
And I'm not giving up on you like you gave up on me
