We're all dead
Excuses and shaking heads can't put stop to it constantly approaching nothing left our reflection gods and guns hollow distractions life begins when trust is placed in death so every day's a brand new chance to stop throwing our lives away idle disconnect won't carry us though 'cause it's steady progress or swift decay
The rest of time starts today I spent so many hours fighting my self over how I'll die so many sleepless nights denying it's over when we close our eyes I need to make the most of my time
It's over when we close our eyes
Every day we chase our dreams until they become reality every day we feed our dreams to give ourselves something to believe so get up it starts today
