

We Say Summer "Hometown"

It's been three long months since I came home,
Can't find a reason to stay here alone,
Hometown's been beaten down,
And it's begging me to bring back;
All the kids who used to rep this place,
This town where time was so well spent,
But they left this place for dead;
Yeah they left this town for dead.

So come on, come on; we'll turn this season inside out,
Keep the heat alive for all the times, the times we shared this year
So shout it, shout it; we'll flip this story inside out,
Make it worth the freezing winter nights, so we can stay
right here.

Try to bring the beat back to this town,
Make the streets breathe easy one more time,
Hometown's been built up from the sound,
Begging me to bring back;
All the songs we sang when we were kids,
And all the punk-rock bands we used to love,
But they left this place for dead;
Yeah they left this town for dead.

So come on, come on, we'll turn this season inside out,
Keep the heat alive for all the times, the times we
shared this year,
So shout it, shout it, we'll flip this story inside out,
Make it worth the freezing winter nights, so we can stay
right here.

Our eyes reflecting daybreak; the summer breeze,
The winter feels so cold this year.

So come on, come on, we'll turn this season inside out,
Keep the heat alive for all the times, the times we
shared this year,
So shout it, shout it, we'll flip this story inside out,
Make it worth the freezing winter nights, so we can stay
right here.
