Taking a breath while believing all is fine,
But this shaking and breaking mistaking words tonight
Like how does the clock turn to take you away
As minutes count hours the miles separate,
This distance that killed us.
I'll wait for you when you go away,
To be like a start when you've already shined to me.

Fake light shines darker every day,
There are things i can't tell you feelings i've had for so long.
Today you are gone.
I won't forget you yet,
I'll sleep again,
To the one regret i opened my eyes
