The stars in the sky they light your way, back to your home every single Day, that's the stars giving love, that the love that they send, cause
Everybody needs a friend

The pen you hold writes words on your page, so you words can be read every Single day, that's the pen lending you a helping hand, cause everybody
Needs a friend

All the days when you think there's no one out there with you, just open
Your eyes and you will see all that they do

The wheels on your car go round and round, bringing you to places safe and Sound, their friendship is always around the bend, cause everybody needs a Friend

Your alarm clock helps wake up your eyes, cause late to work you cannot Arrive, to you the alarm clock will always tend cause everybody needs a Friend

All the days when you think there's no one out there
with you, just open

All the days when you think there's no one out there
with you, just open
All the days when you think there's no one out there
with you, just open

To the trees which comfort you with shade, and guard you from the rain,

They knew you needed a place to stand, cause
everybody needs a friend
