We packed our bags long ago
Ventured down far below
Where the light will never go
But everyone seems to be

No one knows that it exists
Except for those who persist
At seeing the world for what it is
And not what it seems to be

Tonight is the night we always wanted
We're seeing our lives before they started moving
away from where we wanted
To really be

We made ourselves right at home
This is where we belong
This is where the world was born
And everyone needs to be

Tonight is the night we always wanted
We're seeing our lives before they started moving
away from where we wanted
To really be
