The flowers have bloomed
I don't mean to intrude
But baby
I don't even know you but I feel like I love you

I can tell by your fluctuations
That our hearts beat faster when we're closer together
Take it in, take it in with each passing breath

Hello, you're my dream come true
The plot has thickened my mind has been blown out
And the tables have turned
This dinner's made for two

Between the light and dark we'll be alive
(Between the light and dark)
(Between the light and dark)
And finally become the ones we wanted to be

The candles are lit and the scene is set for this perfect moment

And she lives all alone and she is blinded
But she is the learning kind
But we have this state of mind

Never did know much about my life
Until we met for the very first time
I never did know much about my life

You have shown me there is a way to live
