(parody of "Peter And The Wolf" by Sergei Prokofiev)
Hello, Boys and Girls. This is a story that I like to call,
"Peter and the Wolf". Are you sitting comfortably? ARE YOU!? Good, then let's begin ...

Each character is represented by a different instrument of the synthesized orchestra. For instance, the part of Billy the Bird is played by a flute, like this ...

The part of Bruce the Duck is played by an oboe ...

Louie the Cat is a clarinet.

All right, he's not *really* a clarinet - he's just - you know,

h-he's represented by a clarinet ...

The part of the Grandfather will be played by Don Amiche.

He - ... What ? ... Can't make it ? ...

Oh. Okay, um, hmm, in that case,

the part of the Grandfather will be played by a bassoon

...

Three French horns play the part of ... uhm ...

three French horns ... uh ... (The Wolf! It's the Wolf!)

Right ! The Wolf. Seymour the Wolf ...

The kettle drum and bass drum represent the submachine-gun fire of the hunters ...

And, of course, as always, the part of Bob the Janitor is played by the accordion ...

Well, that's it for the introductions. And now, the story

...

A long time ago, in a galaxy far far away ... uh, ... Oh, excuse me ...
