

Western Waste

"Break Away"

Visit "Break Away" on MotoLyrics.com

I say you're lazy you say you haven't found your soul what do you live for does it mean a thing at all look for the answers and you'll never get a clue there are no guarantees on anything you'll do you just look away but regrets that stained your mind never get away break away come again break away come again confusion sets in and your fucking memories breath in pull the trigger get away you will be back some day pull the trigger run free you will be back some day so you're gone now did you leave a thing behind those lame excuses must be fucking with your mind look for the answers and you'll never get a clue don't forget to speak your mind no matter what you'll do break away come again break away come again you're the one you're the one you're the one that's suffering you're the one you're the one you're the one that's suffering you're the one you're the one you're the one you're the one confusion sets in and your fucking memories breath in pull the trigger get away you will be back some day pull the trigger run free you will be back some day

Visit Western Waste page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.