You crashed into me, like the ocean to the pier, so naturally.
You followed me, like imprints through the sand, so casually

But your mind ran away
When your mind ran away

I'm gonna miss you this New Years
I'm gonna reminisce of times we once shared
We both know that I don't see too clear,
With the Jack and Coke racing down my throat
Jack and Coke

I met your soul, outside Thousand Oaks, where did she go?

When your mind ran away
When your mind ran away
When your mind ran away

I'm gonna miss you this New Years
I'm gonna reminisce of times we once shared
We both know that I don't see too clear,
With the Jack and Coke racing down my throat
Jack and Coke

I like a good fight
So go ahead knock out my teeth
Battered, bloody, bruised still at your feet

I'm gonna miss you this New Years
I'm gonna reminisce of times we once shared
We both know that I don't see too clear,
With the Jack and Coke racing down my throat
Jack and Coke
