"Let It Fall"

There's a star in you who wants to shine
But you're living in a world that's full of darkness.
No matter what you do there's still no light
Even though you feel you've tried your hardest
But don't you hide it, don't tried to fight it

Cos you can't stop the rain
If it's already falling
You can't stop the dream when
It's already calling out your name
If you give with all your heart
You will live to see it all.
You can't stop the rain
So let it fall

Destiny has made a many things
Everyone wants what they don't have
No one really knows how long it takes
Time can make it hard to stay on path.
But don't you fake it, one day you'll make it.
Cos you can't stop the rain
If it's already falling
You can't stop the dream when
It's already calling out your name
If you give with all your heart
You will live to see it all.
You can't stop the rain
So let it fall

(Fall against your face
Against your skin.....
And you'll begin to see the light of who you are)

Cos you can't stop the rain
If it's already falling
You can't stop the dream when
It's already calling out your name
If you give with all your heart
You will live to see it all.
You can't stop the rain
So let it fall

You can't stop the rain
Even if you try
So let it fall let it fall
