Where does it go when it's gone
All of the love that we had
I wish I could make you remember oh yeah
The rock that we build is apart
How could it just disappear like it ain't matter

I don't know how to watch you live
But there's nothing left to say
It's easier to walk on water
It's easier to path the sea
Than to live another day without you
And just forget about what you mean to me
It's easier to reach the heaven
Then for us to work this out
I haven't prayed in so long
But if it brings you back somehow
Then I guess I'll need a miracle right now

I'm stranded at the end of the line
I'm nowhere left to get home
But I'm not ready to surrender oh no
I'm still willing to fight
But seems like changing your mind
It's harder than ever

I don't know how to watch you live
It's easier to walk on water
It's easier to path the sea
Than to live another day without you
And just forget about what you mean to me
It's easier to reach the heaven
Then for us to work this out
I haven't prayed in so long
But if it brings you back somehow
Then I guess I'll need a miracle right now

Almost nothing is impossible our love
Can open any door But it's impossible to Let you go...

It's easier to walk on water

It's easier to path the sea
Than to live another day without you
And just forget about what you mean to me
It's easier to reach the heaven
Then for us to work this out
I haven't prayed in so long
But if it brings you back somehow
Then I guess I'll need a miracle right now

I need a miracle right now..yeah
