"An Open Invitation"

Visit "An Open Invitation" on MotoLyrics.com

Take the time to listen something's calling in the air
An open invitation from the road
As we leave our friends and our families an uncertainty we share
Are we strong enough to take this on our own?
At time it seems our will remains in question,
unanswered
And everyday brings newfound strain and pressure
We're changing.
The struggle is whether we keep it together and grow
Or break under pressure, falter or fail in our goal
We're taking this road for ourselves we can't follow the path that is laid out for some.
With strength from each other
our family, our brothers
there's nothing we can't overcome.
Take the time to listen something's calling in the air
An open invitation from the world
As you leave your friends and your family
an uncertainty they share;
Are you strong enough to take this on your own?
It's not enough to shrug your shoulders saying;
'you're waiting'
To take this step you can't hold back
Embrace it you're changing.
The struggle is whether you keep it together and grow
Or break under pressure, falter or fail in your goal.
You're taking this road for yourself you can't follow the path that is laid out for some.
With strength from each other,
your family, your brothers,
there's nothing you won't overcome.
To take this step you can't hold back
Embrace it you're changing
