And there was nothing left to feel
When I fell into the night
I thought that I would never heal
But that night I was reborn

I need a drink
As long as it's strong enough
My name? I don't know my name
That's right, no card at all, yeah, great

Hey, you know a place called "The Pie"?
No, I know but I can't remember

There was nothing left to feel
When I fell into the night
I thought that I would never heal
But that night I was reborn

And there was nothing left to feel
When I fell into the night
I thought that I would never heal
But that night I was reborn

Let me in, I've been here before
No, I didn't destroy your door
Yeah, right, I've started already

Is that guy a regular?
Yeah, I'm sure I've seen him before
Who's he talking to?

So you remember
The night when I was following this girl?
What happened that night?
No, I don't know any of the bands on this list
Sleepwalkers? Never heard of, what are they?

And there was nothing left to feel
When I fell into the night
I thought that I would never heal
But that night I was reborn

And there was nothing left to feel
When I fell into the night
I thought that I would never heal
But that night I was reborn

There was nothing left to feel
When I fell into the night
I thought that I would never heal
But that night I was reborn

The sun is already up
I will never believe
How bright it can be
At this hour

There was nothing left to feel
When I fell into the night

There was nothing left to feel
When I fell into the night
I thought that I would never heal
But that night I was reborn

There was nothing left to feel
When I fell into the night
I thought that I would never heal
But that night I was reborn

And there was nothing left to feel
When I fell into the night
I thought that I would never heal
But that night I was reborn

And there was nothing left to feel
When I fell into the night
I thought that I would never heal
But that night I was reborn

And there was nothing left to feel
When I fell into the night
I thought that I would never heal
But that night I was reborn

I need a room
No, as long as there's a bed
My name?
Black, my name is Black
