The streets of the future littered with remains
Of both the fools and all the so called, brains
The whole prediction is enough to kill
But only God knows if it won't or it will

Nobody knows why we fell so flat
Some silly creature said, we'd never crack
But most would just survive and then bounce back
But the rest are cryin', why'd I fall for that crap?
Why did I fall for that?

So many rash promises sincerely made
By people who believed that we were bein' saved
They made us all believe that we were actin' wild
But truth is we've forgotten how we used to fight

Nobody knows why we fell so flat
We're impotent and neutered like whinin' cats
We've found the piper but we've lost the rats
But the kids are cryin', why'd fall for that dad?
Why did you fall?

Ooh ooh, ooh ooh
Ooh ooh, ooh ooh
Ooh ooh, ooh ooh
Ooh ooh
It never rains under my umbrella

Four minutes to midnight on a sunny day
Maybe if we smile the clock will fade away
Maybe we can force the hands to just reverse
Maybe as a word, maybe maybe is a curse

Nobody knows why we fell so flat
We've never been taught to fight or face up to facts
We simply believe that we'd remain intact
But history is asking, why'd you fall for that?
Why did you fall?

Why did you to fall for that?
Why did you to fall for that?
Why did you to fall for that?
