(Frantz/McGee)
What's your name
What's your cell number
Are you staying above
Or falling under
Have your own thoughts
Got you trapped inside your head
If it should rain
Would you be standing here
Then who's to blame
You get soaked in your fear
You scream in pain
Your head explodes, my dear
And yet you remain
You're never going there
You know I love you
Yet you still run
Do you know that He'll love
Even with all you've done
Can the pain of the unknown
Be any worse than what you've now
If it should rain
Would you be standing here

Then who's to blame
You get soaked in your fear
You scream in pain
Your head explodes, my dear
And yet you remain
You're never going there
You love...you hate
You run...escape
You say..."He'll fail"
And yet bound by nail
Risen again...to soothe and mend
But where...have you been?
Ignoring Him
If it should rain
Would you be standing here
Then who's to blame
You get soaked in your fear
You scream in pain

Your head explodes, my dear
Do you know his aim
Is to touch and heal you there
What's your name
What's your cell number
