[(Devil-like voice talks)

It was a dark and cold night somewhere in Norway...
They all sat down in the studio, and listen to was to become the "Neighbour of the Beast" album..

at the end of the record, the producer got up and said
"it sounds great..." but, they where one song short...

the song that will make it a multi-million selling album the band stayed up and worked all night, untill break of dawn

and then, they realized, that they've just written the best song.... in the world...
