I see our enemies, I see them on their knees
Crawling across the floor, you killed them all
Outside our door, the gaping hole
Into which all will fall

You have walked through my dreams
And I want you to see this
Open the door, open the door

Standing at the mall
Things vanish one by one
Invisible, invisible, invisible
Watch them grow, always coming forward

I say my goodbyes
To everyone I know
Goodbye, goodbye

I burn up my lists
And cease to exist
Leave nothing behind

The things I thought I'd want
They vanish one by one
Invisible, invisible, invisible

You have walked through my dreams
And I want you to see this
Invisible, invisible, invisible
Your lips to my lips
I cease to exist
