We carry on what we own
We think so much, we leave it at home
Lose the salt, slipping fast
Can't forget what we are made of

So you say what we want to
But we'll wait on how to
And you'll say that we've lost you
But we'll say it's all up to you

Arguments left alone
Wait on words not our own
Elevate to use this height
Let's not forget what we are made of

So you say what we want to
But we'll wait on how to
And you'll say that we've lost you
But we'll say it's all up to you
And you say,
We'll wait
You say,
Its all up to you

So you say that we fight to
But we'll wait on how to
And you'll say that we've lost you
But we'll say it's all up to you

Is there anybody out there that feels this pain
Anybody out there who knows this name
I heard that you needed someone
