It's tuesday already the 22nd of july and I have to get you off of my mind the world is still spinning and I'm falling behind so I have to get you off of my mind and in these days with all I do I can't seem to mail my letters there's no right to write about it there's no science in an other and whether we're meeting, well I think I'd walk the line but I have to get you off of my mind darling, honey, feel the fire when noone, not anybody has turned their smile around, around

the telephone is humming now to no other line and it says I have to get you off of my mind and darling, and honey, the feel the fire when

and I sleep all day cause it's always night who would have thought it now I know I am breakable and you could piece me back together

but I have to get you off of my have to get you off of my I have to get you off of my mind

and I have to get you off of my mind
