It's a grey day raining and I'm thinking to myself
That I turn in circles all the time
How I'm back again to where I used to be
The returning wheel forever rolls

Where these day are leading to
Where time is disappearing through

Living in a frozen place and waiting for the sun
Always want to be where I am not Now I'm back again to where I used to be
Wish I could accept what I have got

Where these day are leading to
Where time is disappearing through

Wish I could accept what I have got
