haven't you ever felt this way before?
(with a perfect stranger?)
the look on her face,
it just gives her away, she can't take any more hoist up your white flag, call for a truce try separation, we both stand to lose she looks in your eyes as we say our goodbyes and she says

say you're sorry
say you're sorry (tell me, tell me)
say you're sorry (right from the heart)
say you're sorry
say you're sorry

think of the times when we couldn't wait to get home (from the arms of danger) funniest part was the danger was right in our being home
you hoist up your white flag, you seem so amused living in riddles without giving clues looks in your eyes as you say your goodbytes and she says

say you're sorry
say you're sorry (tell me, tell me)
say you're sorry (right from the heart)
say you're sorry
say you're sorry

we've had our problems and we've had our fights I was the wrong one and you were the right no more fighting, it ends tonight it's your turn to say you're sorry

say you're sorry
say you're sorry (say you're sorry)
