Most of my life I've been runnin' around
Playin' and havin' a ball
And maybe I've been on a party too long
These memories are fond to recall

You see we've got these thing about women
Smokin' and good alcohol
Now I'm lookin' for a homelife and clean smellin'
sheets
And all the soft places to fall

The women we've known have been many
But they don't understand us at all
Though we've spent many a long hours
Hopin' some old lover would call

Surely somebody somewhere still wants us
Or don't nobody want us at all
We're lookin' for a homelife and clean smellin' sheets
And all the soft places to fall

Most of our lives we've been outlaws
Slept with our backs to the wall
I'm a rambler, I'm a seeker and we're gettin' weaker
A whole lot more likely to fall

We're tired of the rocks and the brambles
Those barbed wire fences and all
And we're lookin' for a homelife and clean smellin'
sheets
And all the soft places to fall

Most of our lives we've been outlaws
Slept with our backs to the wall
I'm a rambler, I'm a seeker and we're gettin' weaker
A whole lot more likely to fall

We're tired of the rocks and the brambles
Those barbed wire fences and all
And we're lookin' for a homelife and clean smellin'
sheets
And all the soft places to fall
