Well he rode into Blue Rock dusty and tired and he got him a room for the night he lay there in silence with too much on his mind still hoping that he was not right He found them that evening in a tavern in town in a quiet little out of the way place And they smile at each other when he walked through the door
And they died with their smiles on their faces
They died with their smiles on their face Don't boss him don't cross him he's wild in his sorrow he's ridin' and hidin' his pain Don't fight him don't spite him let's wait till tomorrow maybe he'll ride on again
