Some people go to school tryin' to learn how to teach
Some people go to school tryin' to learn how to preach
But if you preach without goin' school
Brother you're ain't no preacher, you're an educated fool
And that's all, and that's all

You'd better change your way of livin'
'Cause the good Lord say, that's all

Now a feller, I know it's a wiser man tryin' to Save all the money that he can
One day undertaker lets him down
Where's he gonna spend that money under the ground
And that's all, and that's all

Now a man come from monkey, some people say
But the Good Book, brother, just don't tell it that way
And if you believe that monkey tale like some folks do
Then I'd rather be that monkey than you
And that's all, and that's all

Well, my little song is ended and my little song is through
And I necessarily mean this song for you
But if you don't like the way the little song goes Well, it's a mighty good sign that I've been trottin' on your toes
And that's all, and that's all
