You say you feel disenchanted,
'cause lately he takes you for granted.
So faithful and true you've remained,
and to her so have I.
You pour out ya heart and I listen.
As we catch a vibe reminiscin'.
Temptation so strong,
not to mention the yearning inside.

Chorus:

But what kinda man would I be,
if I lived unfaithfully?
And what kinda girl would you be,
if you did the same?
'Cause I don't wanna see her cry.
And you don't need a reason to lie.
'Cause if we lay down tonight,
it won't justify throwin' love aside.

This feeling is strong and we know it,
but we gotta see past the moment.
It's too much to lose, if we blow it.
This is no lie.
But still here we are, both together.
With promises made that we'd never.
You're feelin' it now more than ever.
I can't deny.

Chorus

Here we are, all alone
But somehow we've got to be strong

Chorus
