

Wintersleep "Preservation"

Visit "Preservation" on MotoLyrics.com

That night he hurt you bad
In that green, pastel summer dress
You'd die alone with the land
A hollow head in its hands But everybody does that But with particular scorn, in polyurethane form, freeze dried, stuff to the brim

- Preservation

Hide in our hideous masks
Your daddy's shitty shake grass
I told you I couldn't see it A monument of pills, grocery lists, telephone bills, pamphlets & dollar

store trinkets

- Preservation

But if that was how you put it, and if you ever willed it, I would embroider you In disaffected kisses, in bleach reticent sunsets, soldered animal glue

A hand too heavy to hold Lips that won't do what they're told How do we ever begin it?
How do we grow old?

Visit Wintersleep page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.