Way not so long ago
There was a town we did not know
But it called out, begging us to go
It was the strangest thing but what did we know? ha

Now I realize I was so wrong
Just like the multitude of fools I now live among
They all wanna be starting something
They're talking loud but ain't saying nothing
I'm the owner of a smoking gun
What Los Angeles needs is a revolution

Lost An-geles needs a revolution
Lost An-geles needs a revolution

Now what will we learn from what we've done
We walk a lonely line between castles and ruin
Will we stay or pack it up and go home
Or just serve you coffee til we're globally known? ha

The end is near and we'll watch it sink
As the rapper rolls round in his Cadillac tank
Tell me who's idea was this for fun
A mindless pawn yeah, I've become one
Fight the crowd for number one
I'm talking loud but ain't saying nothing

Lost An-geles needs a revolution
Lost An-geles needs a revolution

Money, money, money, money
Money, money, money, money
Money, money, money, money
Serious money, money, money, money

Yeah you better make
Money, money, money, money
Yeah you better make
Money, money, money, money
Yeah you better make
Money, money, money, money
Some serious money, money, money, money

Yeah you better make
Money, money, money, money
Yeah you better make
Money, money, money, money
Yeah you better make
Money, money, money, money
Some serious money, money, money, money
Money, money, money, money
Yeah you better make, make, make my day
