"Burnt Back To Life"

Haunted by the image you fear the most
It's with you everyday
You can't control what lays ahead your destiny
What is it what's this life supposed to mean
I wish I could help you but you're on your own
It's just the way it's meant to be
I've had my heart burnt back to life
Time and time again
I walk with heartache by my side
Through darkness to the end
Times up you've had your chances but you've blown that
What were you thinking repeatedly you've hurt me?
Again and again it's over now are you ready
To except what's been laid out for you, Drop it
I feel you watching me
Through the cracks of this fucking nightmare
I'll rise above and I'll be set free
