So many nights so many days been slipping away from the human race
No emotion left no care at all I didn't turn my back I never tried at all
You ask me why I sit and hide
So many lives so many give in What am I to do, I just never fit in So many nights I sit and think about
All the times I heard you calling out
Who can I trust in this deepening darkening world?
I turn my back and keep walking away
So you can live to fight another day
Who the fuck did you think you were anyway
Nobody cares
I hear you calling I'm still stalking, you can't turn this on me
You see me falling, quit fucking clawing,
Quit your stalling, can't turn this around on me
You can't save me now Lies, betrayal just another day all your fucking lies to
me
One more time, just one more time, why not fucking try
me
I'm not the person that I used Person I used to be Just try it one more time, one more time with me
