"Come on man", she said, "We've lived without this town

I can't stand another day"

I said, "We'll leave things, you can pack our bill

Let me get the bag and I can make it straight"

It was the same as yesterday

We've been gone and the miles stretched down the long road

We moved as fast as we could

Through the heat of the desert and cruelty of that Buick's seat

Just to keep on

Through the heat of the desert and cruelty of that Buick's seat

Just to keep on

That night we laid on the floor of the desert

But I could barely sleep, yeah, yeah, yeah, yeah

There was a man in a black car with a man in the back seat

And I woke up in a cold sweat with her lyin' by, by, by, by, by, by

We've been gone and the miles stretched down the long road

We moved as fast as we could

Through the heat, cruelty, cruelty, cruelty, cruelty

Just to keep, keep, keep, keep

We sat on the corner, we sat on the corner

We sat, we sat on the corner

That night we laid on the floor of the desert

[Incomprehensible]

There was a man in a black car with a man in the back seat

I'd wake up in a cold sweat with her lying next to me

Lying next, next, next to me
