Behold the power of the righteous as we march
Into the battlefield with shields of metal mightier than steel

Their spears of destiny will never strike us down
As we defend His holy kingdom and His crown
These are the final days so we shall make them last
Our greatest weapon is our wisdom of the past

Ignorance is fatal bliss
Deadlier than satan's kiss

Open your heart and search for the truth
Open your heart to the notion that love is power

Ignore the flood and you'll always have errors
For knowledge is golden and knowing is half the battle

Remember the flood

A thousand declarations does not prove a single thing
Only evidence will bring us truth and meaning

Look closely at what you've been told for all these years
And you will find nothing more than bias and ego spawning

There is no truth in modern science
It is nothing but a new religion...

...whose spears of destiny will never strike us down
As we defend His holy kingdom and His crown
These are the final days so we shall make them last
Our greatest weapon is our wisdom of the past

Behold the power of the righteous as we march
Into the battlefield with shields of metal mightier than
steel
