Follow, I followed you everywhere you went
Follow, I'll never follow you again

Look at how they flock to you
You must have some special power
And if I follow close enough
They'll spare me from devour

CHORUS:

Follow, I followed you everywhere you went
I thought you knew the path you were on
But you were blind
Just like me, just like me
I'll never follow you again

My entire being was consumed
By what I thought you thought of me
With all that thinking I forgot
What it was like to just be

We enter this life not knowing how to be
So we look to others to show us what we see
Now I open my eyes and risk it on my own
Because I sure as hell was lost by what you had shown
