Another soldier
Another hopeless wasted life
Now you are told what to do
A mental boiler
Melting the weak and troubled minds
In need of hearing the call

The call of war
You're in need of hearing the calling of war
The call of war
You're in need of hearing the calling of war

Now you are blinded
And you can't tell what's right or wrong
You got a lot to regret
You speak through others
They speak through you, that's all you've got
You hear the call in your mind
The call of war
You're in need of hearing the calling of war
The call of war
You're in need of hearing the calling of war

And at night when all the lights are out
You may think of all that could have been
If you only had another chance
Would you have made it just the same? Just the same?

The call of war
You're in need of hearing the calling of war
The call of war
You're in need of hearing the calling of war
