And have you been to the carnival
Well, I would like to see you
And there's a whole lot of people there
Who would like to be you

With the white unicorn
Well, across her shoulder
Makes you think that she might of been
Someone who's older, oh yeah

And I know it's on your mind
We've been drinking on the wine
That we drank from the serpents vine
Now we live in another time

We could live together
We could live together

She lives on the borderline
That they call hazel
And the tent that she lives in
It has the name of her lover

And I know it's on your mind
We've been drinking on the wine
That we drank from the serpents vine
Now we live in another time

Sister can you tell me when the day turns to night
She left without a word and wondered inside
How many days must I still wonder why
And see her face in every passer by?

We could live together
We could live together

And I know it's on your mind
We've been drinking on the wine
That we drank from the serpents vine
Now we live in another time

We could live together

We could live together
We could live together
