There's a war inside you
And I can't escape the ground
I'm losing my lifeline
Because you just can't face the truth

Your face deceives me
You tie me with your words
Fall on your own stones
But still it's my mistake

Forgive me... Forgive me for your sins...

I want to ease your pain
But you turn your head away
I found you in your rain
But you can't find me

This stupid game we're playing
You know we both will lose
Locking all your doors
No one gets in, no one gets out

Please release the rope that holds me
So I can reach your mind
There's something holding me
Oh, there's someone holding me

Forgive me... Forgive me for your words...

I want to ease your pain
But you turn your head away
I found you in your rain
But you can't find me
I want to ease your pain
But you turn your head away
I found you in your rain
But you can't find me

I want to ease your pain...
I found you in your rain...
I want to ease your pain...

I found you in your rain
But you can't find me...
