"Moscow"

So suddenly she put the hurt on me
Forgotten life that used to make the darkness bright
And I can never, never, never love again
I will forever, ever, ever feel the same
She's gone back home again without a word

Moscow, that's all I know, Moscow
Moscow, where shall I go in Moscow?
Oh, but I've got to get her back again
So today I take the train to Moscow

Look ev'rywhere, ask ev'rybody there
Help me to find once more my peace of mind
Till then I'll knock, knock, knock on ev'ry door
Like I will walk and talk and talk and walk and call
Without her by my side I can't come back

Moscow, that's all I know, Moscow
Moscow, where shall I go in Moscow?
But I'll find out if I was just a toy
Just another little boy for her

But I've got to get her back again
So today I take the train to Moscow
