Ever since I lost you,
I can never feel the same...
Though we can never forget what I did...
It was all my mistake not yours...
I have always been hurting you...

Even though you gave me every thing...
My greedy heart wanted more...
And now... that greed took every thing away from me...
But I will always be yours...
Cause today I know the needs and deeds!

And I am tired of the deeds I have done...
Can't take them any more...
I lost you... the only one I called my own...
Today when I see your face...
I can't face it...
I can't look in your eyes and confess my love for you...
Every sacrifice you made...
And never let me know...
Indeed only a woman can do all this...
I know I have lost you...
And I wont beg for mercy...
I will always smile the way I used too...
Between those two souls...
Lied one heart... which I had broken...
I will never forgive my self for what I did...
But will never forget the deeds I did...
No one will ever come in my life...
And even after you said stop making promises...
I make one to my self...
I will always love you...
No one else...
And this is for life!
