Didn't wait for him to stop her, she just dropped a note on the floor.

He thinks that he's got her cornered.

He thinks he controls her life.

Another bad day on the job and he'll take it out on his wife

But when he walked through the door he saw that there was no one home.

He saw a piece of paper on the floor.

He picked it up and it read:

I see a road stretched ahead

And it leads so far away from your abuse and all your fucking lies.

I'm already gone and you can't touch me this time.
