finally after a long long time you decided to take your heart away from mine you said i was a child and as you get out of my mind go on with my life to make the best of what is left *we used to do things together share precious moments with each other you promise to share your love forever now the promise so sweet has gone sour

now that your gone
tell me where my heart will go
now that your gone
tell me what my life will be
tell me how can i ease the sorrow
now that your gone
tell me where my heart will go
now that your gone
tell me why did i love you midnight is past the night is over thoughts of you always fill my mind till the sun will come dawn will be over i wish you were here right by my side repeat *,

now that your gone
tell me where my heart will go
now that your gone
tell me where my heart will go
now that your gone
tell me why...
